Alex. H. WashburnTax Reform
Usually Means
Heavier Taxes

The first rule of dictators has been "Keep the people divided so they won't be able to throw you out."

And the same rule is borrowed by politicians when they set about to increase taxes. They beat the drums for "tax reform," pointing out what they say are loopholes by which the rich escape taxes, to stir up the majority of the population for legislation which invariably piles still higher taxes on the poor.

Two favorite targets of the politicians are (1) the depletion allowance "loophole" for the oil industry and (2) "tax-exempt" municipal, county and state bonds.

But the depletion of oil wells is a hard economic fact. I came to Arkansas in 1923 two years after the El Dorado discovery and less than a year after the Smackover field blew in, and personally saw the gusher strike that created the Norphlet boom. Today most of those riches are gone. One by one El Dorado's oil refineries have closed. So the oil depletion allowance is necessary if you want to continue having fuel for the family car.

The popular name for city, county and state bonds is "tax-exempts," yet the truth is they are bond investments on which income tax has been deducted before you ever get around to clipping the interest coupons. I have some of these "tax-exempts," issued by North Little Rock and Crossett. One city pays 3.75 per cent interest on the face of the bond, the other 3.8 per cent on the premium price at which I bought. If the income were taxable I wouldn't touch them for twice the stated return.

A business man buys such exempt bonds to maintain working capital, the equivalent of cash but earning a small return. Cities, counties and states sell such exempt bonds because they enable home government to make public improvements. Close up this "loophole" and you will make an unpleasant discovery: By doubling the interest burden of local government the federal octopus would put local government projects out of business—leaving a clear field to the federals.

While the politicians are talking about "tax reform" they are secretly maneuvering public opinion in the hope of bringing off the biggest tax increase in U.S. history. No later than Tuesday the Washington wire reported that Treasury Secretary George Shultz hinted President Richard Nixon is talking about enactment of an "added value tax."

When you spell it out that means a federal sales tax. Still worse, it is a transaction tax, a sales tax that multiplies each time an article or commodity changes hands. Shultz said, "It has an advantage in that you generate large revenue with low rates."

Try and tell that to the people of Arkansas. They saw the state tax start at 2 per cent with groceries and clothing exempt, then the exemptions were removed, the rate was increased to 3 per cent, the tax base was widened to cover services and labor—and even now there is an impending plot to raise the levy to 4 per cent.

When I was researching for editorials in behalf of the original Arkansas sales tax in 1933-34, real property being bankrupt in the Depression and something had to be done for public school revenue, I discovered the first sales tax was levied in Spain—but it soon turned into a transaction tax with endless multipliers until the tax amounted to 60 per cent of the cost of commonly used articles. Spain rebelled and killed the sales tax.

I advocated Arkansas' sales tax but coupled to that advocacy the warning given above.

Arkansas paid no attention. And Washington is much too far away to listen.

Nixon nominated record 3rd time for president

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A confident Richard Nixon, selected by cheering Republicans as their presidential nominee a record third time, is looking already to "the next four years" as a united GOP prepares to name Spiro T. Agnew once more as his running-mate.

Only the renomination of Agnew, expected to be unanimous in contrast to a floor fight four years ago, and the acceptance speeches of the two nominees remain tonight before the Republicans end their convention and set forth to do battle with the Democratic team of George McGovern and Sargent Shriver.

Nixon emphasized in a pair of speeches here Tuesday, one upon his arrival at Miami International Airport, the other to some 8,000 young supporters within the hour of his convention triumph, that he intends to make a major pitch for the vote of young people in the fall campaign.

"We've got just as good a shot at it as the other side, and we're going to get it," the President told a rally in Miami Marine Stadium across Biscayne Bay from Convention Hall.

Just a few minutes earlier, a cascade of red, white and blue balloons tumbled down upon delegates, spectators and marching Nixon supporters and others floated upwards towards the ceiling as vast Convention Hall broke into pandemonium following the 76-minute rite of nomination.

PRESIDENT RICHARD NIXON

Nixon is pursuing the youth vote in re-election bid

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — While Republican delegates rejoiced, President Nixon sped out in avid pursuit of the volatile youth vote only moments after his renomination.

As the Miami Beach Convention Hall erupted in a meticulously planned "Nixon now" display after the formality of the nomination Tuesday night, the President drove to a nearby "youth for Nixon" rally to rev up his troops.

Although some concede the youth vote to the Democrats, Nixon declared:

"I don't think the youth vote is in anybody's pocket. It never will be ... We've got just as good a shot at it as the other side. And we're gonna get it — with your help."

"Based on what I have seen on television at this convention, based on the reception that I see and feel here today, those who have predicted that the other side is going to win the young voters are simply wrong. We are going to win them," Nixon told the airport greeters.

Protestors confront Nowotny

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — State Rep. George E. Nowotny Jr. of Fort Smith told newsmen Tuesday that he was confronted Sunday night with some protest demonstrators who spat on him near the Republican National Convention.

Nowotny said he was accompanied by his wife and an Ashley County woman who was an alternate delegate to the convention. The group was entering a hotel for a fund-raising dinner when the confrontation took place, he said.

"As we were walking through them, trying to gain entrance and access to the hotel, we were, besides the abusive language and statements that we were 'children murderers' and 'race warmongers' and other things, many of them were grabbing at the ladies' dresses and pulling on my coat and spitting on us from points of higher prominence that they had gained on top of a fence," Nowotny said.

"I must admit that it was rather difficult to keep your cool, but the only way you can get through one of those things is to keep on moving," he said.

District in Congress, recounted the history of soil conservation following the luncheon. At right is Andrew Whisenant of Bradley, area vice chairman, who served as master of ceremonies for the meeting.

Last-minute preparations

Jacky White, an employee at the Paisley School here, puts the finishing touches on a desk-cleaning chore in preparation for the opening of school Aug. 31. An open house at the school will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. Tuesday, according to James Jones, superintendent of Hope Schools. All interested persons have been invited. The school recently was renovated at a cost of more than $25,000; improvements to the school included the addition of central air conditioning and heating units, new floor coverings and the lowering of the ceilings. The building was also completely rewired. Garrett Construction Company of Hope was the contractor on the project.

216 arrests mark day of protests

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — As Republican delegates renominated President Nixon, police skirmish lines swept streets surrounding Convention Hall to climax a day of protest marked by 216 arrests and several injuries.

Stepping up their militancy Tuesday, protesters harassed delegates, pounded cars, threw rocks and broke windows throughout the afternoon and into the night. A police lieutenant, a protester and two bystanders were injured.

Earlier, Vietnam veterans marched against the war and two students for a Democratic Society crashed a Republican brunch attended by Mrs. Nixon and daughter Tricia Cox. The Zippies, an off-shoot of the Youth International Party (Yippies) demonstrated against world imperialism.

The Zippie march produced the first mass arrests of the convention season. It ended at an intersection in front of Convention Hall. When protesters refused to move, police herded 212 of them into yellow vans and rented trucks, charging most with disobeying a lawful police order.

Delegates arriving for the evening convention session were greeted by 3,500 anti-Nixon demonstrators strung out in the streets surrounding the 50-acre convention center compound.

The faces of many protesters were painted white, and hands of others dyed red. There were anti-Nixon posters, antiwar skits and an elephant pulling a large black coffin.

Ranks of state troopers flooded into the streets when protesters began pushing and shoving the arriving Republicans, pounding on cars with fists and sticks and swarming into streets to block traffic.

With riot sticks held waist high, officers shoved and prodded the protesters down the streets. Four more persons were arrested for disorderly conduct, but the troopers clearly were more interested in moving people than arresting them.

About 400 police cleared three sides of the compound, giving the demonstrators the street in front of the hall to carry on a program of rock music and speeches.

For the first time, police remained on the streets in force, lined up four deep to prevent protesters from spreading around the hall again.

The police cordon funneled the departing demonstrators back toward their Flamingo Park campground at 11 p.m., four hours after they arrived. Few protesters remained when the delegates departed after renominating Nixon.

Conservatives gain strength

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The Republican National Convention Tuesday adopted rules bequeathing strength to GOP conservatives in 1976, and approved a platform designed by the White House as President Nixon came to Miami for his renomination.

About 2,000 supporters, most of them young, cheered Nixon at Miami International Airport. The President told them Republicans are going to win the youth vote in 1972.

There was a cheer for Nixon at Convention Hall, too, as his televised arrival was shown on giant screens behind and beside the platform.

Registration closing for Hope first grade

James H. Jones, superintendent of Hope schools, has announced that all parents or guardians who have children who will be six years of age on or before Oct. 1, are asked to register your child at the administration building immediately if they have not done so. It is necessary that a birth certificate and immunization record be presented upon enrollment, Jones said.

No child will be admitted to school in the fall unless these requirements of Arkansas law have been met, he said.

A child must be admitted during the first 10 days of the 1972-73 school term or wait until the following year.

McGovern speaker at meeting

CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. George McGovern told the American Legion today that despite a campaign pledge to slash military spending, "no hostile power will succeed in threatening this country if I am president. No foreign power will push us around."

"We will always have sufficient power to resist attack, the threat of attack or diplomacy by blackmail," the Democratic presidential nominee told the Legionnaires.

McGovern, who has pledged to slash $32 billion from the current defense budget of more than $80 billion, said that even with those cuts "my budget would give us enough fire power to destroy Russia and China simultaneously 20 times over."

The South Dakota senator

commented in remarks prepared for the Legion's national convention. President Nixon speaks before the Legion Thursday.

McGovern also plans to meet today with Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley, whose support is considered important if McGovern is to carry Illinois, a crucial swing state.

McGovern flew in to Chicago fresh from an effort to win the wholehearted support of another old-line Democrat, former President Lyndon B. Johnson.

In his speech to the Legion, McGovern over and over reminded the veterans that he, too, had served in a war, as a bomber pilot in Europe during World War II.

"Everyone who ever served in the armed forces knows that our military spending is riddled with waste and inefficiency," McGovern said. "We need an invincible and invulnerable defense."

"But we also need to rein in the high-flying military spenders who think the sky is the limit."

Daley, who was barred along with his Cook County delegation from last month's McGovern-dominated Democratic National Convention, has said he endorses the Democrats' national ticket.

What course will '72 campaign follow?

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon, leaning over the wide desk in his White House office, set the tone for his re-election campaign strategy.

"Regardless of what the polls show, whether we are ahead or behind, this will be a close, hard-fought election right down to the wire," he told a group of newsmen three weeks before his renomination at the Republican National Convention.

"People who make predictions now could look very, very bad later. We are going to assume throughout this election that we have a very hard fight on our hands...We think it will be close and we hope to win."

Translated, the message Nixon is flashing to his political lieutenants is this: We're running scared. We're ahead now, but we expect that lead to slip. We're taking nothing for granted.

The Nixon strategy is keyed to combining victory in large, electoral vote-rich states with sweeps in the smaller Midwest and Southern states.

If he carries four big states — California, New York, Texas and Illinois — Nixon will have more than half the electoral vote total he needs. But his advisers say he should run so well in the South and Midwest that he could afford to lose one or two of the bigger states and still ride to an easy victory.

Nixon himself has indicated to aides that he considers California crucial to his re-election chances. That is one reason Clark MacGregor has made two trips to California since taking over as campaign chief July 1.

The President won't campaign in all 50 states, but instead will concentrate on the larger states with larger electoral vote prizes. Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, Cabinet members and other administration officials will carry the campaign load to smaller states.

Ten days before the GOP convention began, a Louis Harris poll showed Nixon with a 57-34 per cent lead over Sen. George McGovern, the Democratic nominee.

But this didn't budge the Nixon camp from its avowed caution.

steps toward a new era of peace. Specifically, the campaign will make heavy use of the President's break-through trip to China and his follow-up journey to the Soviet Union.

Democrats see Vietnam as a flaw in Nixon's image as a peacemaker. McGovern, in his early campaigning, criticized him for failing to keep his 1966 promise to end the war and he seemed to place Nixon spokesmen on the defensive.

The campaign plea for understanding on Vietnam likely will be coupled with a sharp attack on those, McGovern especially, whose statements on Vietnam are viewed by Republicans as undercutting Nixon's negotiating position.

Even before Nixon's formal renomination, the President's forces were striving to put McGovern on the defensive over his economic proposals.

In a harbinger of full-fledged campaign attacks, MacGregor resurrected McGovern's $1,000 per person income grant suggestion and charged it "would split America permanently into a welfare class and a working class."

Nixon is expected to charge that McGovern's economic proposals would result in massive tax increases or require major, inflation-spurring budget deficits.

At the same time, Nixon will recite favorable economic indicators to contend that his administration is winning the war against inflation.

Nixon also has signaled his intention to make a campaign issue of the Democratic-controlled Congress' lack of action on major administration proposals such as welfare reform and of its tendency to vote more funds than he requested.

Nixon is likely to make some weekend campaign trips near the end of September but probably will do little full-time campaigning until after Congress adjourns in the fall.

Heavy fighting in VN valley reported

SAIGON (AP) — Heavy fighting was reported at the mouth of the Que Son Valley Tuesday, and 30 miles to the north the North Vietnamese shelled Da Nang for the third time in less than a week.

Officers in the field said South Vietnamese infantrymen and rangers advancing into the valley ran into three North Vietnamese battalions numbering as many as 900 troops.

The Saigon command claimed 108 North Vietnamese troops were killed, but reported only 24 weapons captured. South Vietnamese losses were one killed and 28 wounded, the command said.

The South Vietnamese launched a spoiling operation Monday, two days after the North Vietnamese ran them out of the valley. Now they are trying to keep the North Vietnamese from continuing their push toward Da Nang and the populous lowlands along Highway 1.

Enemy gunners fired five rockets into Da Nang before dawn today, wounding 11 civilians and wrecking five houses. Twelve mortar rounds hit the Marble Mountain air facility on the edge of Da Nang, but there were no reports of any U.S. or South Vietnamese casualties.

U.S. fighter-bombers flew 235 strikes Tuesday and today in support of the South Vietnamese fighting at Quang Tri and east of the Que Son Valley.

Pilots said they knocked out nine supply trucks and one tank just south of the demilitarized zone.

Overcast skies again reduced U.S. air activity over North Vietnam on Tuesday and only a little more than 150 strikes were flown. But the U.S. command reported a record 23 bridges were knocked out, most of them along the coast north and south of Vinh, which is 145 miles above the demilitary zone.

The commander of the U.S. 7th Fleet, Vice Adm. J. L. Holway III, said Tuesday that the Navy's air attacks on North Vietnam and the mining of its harbors have had a tremendous adverse effect on the Communists.

Defoliation of 'jungle' requested

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jokes aside, says a member of the House Armed Services Committee, it's time to defoliate the Pentagon's paper jungle.

There are 11,916 separate paper forms in use at the Pentagon, says Rep. Otis G. Pike, D-N.Y., most of which are seldom read but which consume "a fantastic amount of wasted time, effort and money."

In a letter Tuesday to Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., the committee chairman, Pike urged "a major investigation of the paper jungle which is costing both our military and our taxpaying citizens so very dearly."

Eighty miles to the north, the two-month stalemate in the battle for Quang Tri continued with casualties mounting on both sides. The Saigon command said 79 North Vietnamese were killed Tuesday, while eight government troops were killed and 73 wounded. North Vietnamese gunners slammed nearly 1,400 shells into government positions.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four United Mine Workers union officials, including two already named in the murder of Joseph A. Yablonski, were charged today with trying to encourage false testimony before a grand jury in connection with the case.

The grand jury indictment, returned in Cleveland, was announced by the Justice Department.

Indicted Wednesday were: Albert E. Pass, secretary-treasurer of the UMW's District 19 and a member of the union's international executive board.

William Prater, 53, a field representative for District 19 which covers parts of Tennessee and Kentucky.

Pass and Prater are both held in a Pittsburgh jail on various charges resulting from the deaths of Yablonski, his wife and daughter, whose bodies were found in their Western Pennsylvania home Jan. 5, 1969.

In addition, the indictment added two more names to the six already charged in connection with the shooting of Yablonski, defeated by UMW President W. A. "Tony" Boyle in the union's presidential election Dec. 19, 1969.

They are Chester Philpot, 50, of Straight Creek, Ky., and Ernest Stults, 60, of Grimsley, Tenn., both District 19 field representatives.

UNCROWDED BADLANDS
WASHINGTON (AP) — Perhaps the Badlands National Monument has a bad name.

For some reason, it is one of the rare national parks or monuments that actually is uncrowded. In 1971, about a million and a half visitors toured the desolate no-man's land, but it could easily have handled twice that number.

Statements by Bumpers is expected on Cache

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Dale Bumpers was to make a statement this afternoon concerning the Cache River-Bayou DeView drainage project.

Tuesday, Bumpers was presented petitions expressing opposition in Woodruff County to the Army Engineers' project.

Ray Fitzhugh, an Augusta lawyer, and Mayor Ed McGill of Augusta told the governor that 454 persons signed the petitions. They said that among them were landowners who held 72,354 acres that lie within the drainage area.

A copy of a resolution adopted by the Augusta City Council Monday night also was presented to Bumpers.

The resolution expressed "indignation to the final and irrevocable destruction of hunting and fishing recreation" in the county as a result of the project to ditch the river and improve drainage.

The governor was urged in the resolution to call out the National Guard or take "any other measure which would put an end to the wholesale destruction of the Woodruff County environment."

Petitions from Monroe County were presented last week urging Bumpers to call out guardsmen to stop work on the project.

Bumpers has asked the engineers to halt temporarily the channelization work pending settlement of a suit on the matter and until there are assurances that 30,000 acres of mitigation land will be set aside to replace wildlife habitat destroyed by the project. The engineers replied it would not stop work.

Nixon at Miami - -

As expected, the roll-call vote stood at 1,347 for Nixon, one for Rep. Paul N. McCloskey of California. Rep. Manuel Lujan of New Mexico dutifully cast the one vote won by McCloskey in the state's primary.

An array of carefully selected speakers, spanning the party's ideological bridge from right to left, hailed the President in a smooth show of unity that contrasted sharply with the drawn-out displays of division that marked the Democratic selection of McGovern here last month.

Outside the hall, meanwhile, throngs of youthful antiwar protesters demonstrated in the rain, jostling some delegates. Earlier, police made the first mass arrests of week, hauling off 212 protesters after they pounded cars and jostled pedestrians outside Convention Hall.

Sen. James L. Buckley of New York, one of those who seconded Nixon's nomination, was escorted into the hall by police after about 100 demonstrators ringed him and shouted "murderer."

Police, seeking to clear a path for delegates, moved some 600 protesters from another stretch outside the hall. At least two persons, one protester and one photographer, were injured, neither seriously. They said they were hit by police clubs.

Inside the hall, however, party unity reigned with one brief exception as the delegates approved a party platform extolling the administration's virtues while criticizing the Democrats.

Delegates from the more conservative, traditionally Republican smaller states, aided by the conservative California delegation, captured the convention's only major fight from large-state moderates, winning 910-434 approval for their plan to allocate delegates for the 1976 convention.

Brigid Shanley, a 26-year-old New Jersey delegate, said she would support a lawsuit against the plan. So did Senate GOP Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania and the liberal Ripon Society, which won a court test earlier this year against the party's current apportionment plan.

In the background was the first maneuvering toward the party's 1976 presidential nomination. Many of those who supported the plan that was adopted came from states likely to support Agnew, if he seeks the presidency four years hence.

The vice president, however, declined comment on the developments.

His press secretary, Victor Gold, termed "utterly erroneous" a copyright story in the Detroit News that Agnew agreed to run again for vice president only after receiving Nixon's assurance of support for the presidency in 1976.

In Convention Hall, meanwhile, delegates moved quickly to the major business, the renomination of Nixon, after finishing the preliminaries in an afternoon session that ran nearly five hours.

At 9:46 p.m. EDT, Chairman Gerald R. Ford signaled the start of the roll call for presidential nominations. By 11:02 p.m. he was declaring Nixon the nominee.

The nominating speech for the President was delivered by his erstwhile-rival-turned-boost-er, New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

An annulment is easier and cheaper than a divorce. Is it possible?—RUPERT SMITHE (Not my real name but you get the idea)

DEAR RUPERT: Probably not, but only a lawyer can tell you for sure. Maybe he might make "unsound mind" a case for annulment.—H.

DEAR HELEN: My husband's brothers are big burly men who think throwing their babies high in the air and catching them, or balancing a nine-month-old by one foot (also high above their heads) is fine just because she laughs.

Their wives think we are "overprotective" because I keep poisons in unreachable places and medicines locked up. I don't leave razor blades, knives or scissors around, and think it's better to put candy away than constantly say "No-no."

Their standard remark is "They have to learn some time," and they imply that we'll either bring up a sissy or a child who rebels and leaves home early.

I've got to the point where I'm going to say something nasty if they don't stop harping. How can I shut them up?—YOUNG MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Why don't you throw the book at them? Dr. Spock's book, I mean.—H.

COOKING

By JEANNE LESEM
UPI Food Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Friendship is as important as food in a senior citizens' lunch program in Massachusetts schools. Social contacts made in school lunchrooms are the real bonus, says Marion L. Cronan, who has helped supervise the program since its inception as a preflight project in the Brookline school system in 1968. Miss Cronan is director of homemaking and school food services in the Boston suburb. Her district was one of the first selected because it had the highest percentage in the state of persons 65 years and older.

The program is funded by a special federal grant to the State Council on Aging, and it receives donated foods from the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food and Nutrition Service.

As a result, senior citizens pay only 50 cents per meal. So far, no one in the Brookline program has been unable to afford this token sum, and Miss Cronan is confident that agency assistance could be found if needed.

The ability to pay is an important part of the program, because it avoids the stigma of charity, but Miss Cronan said in a letter that she sees other equally important social benefits.

Before the lunch program began, some elderly men and women wouldn't even dress and leave their rooms during the day. Now they eagerly don their best clothes five days a week to meet new friends over a hot lunch at school.

A similar reaction is reported from other cities that have tried the program, including Santa Fe, N.M., Eau Claire, Wis., and Avon, Conn. In Santa Fe, several friendships even led to marriage.

A growing number of cities provide home delivery of meals for the elderly, but Miss Cronan feels that eating together in school lunchrooms has several advantages over the other system.

For one thing, the aged enjoy watching the children whose lunch hour precedes theirs, and the youngsters relate well to the older group. Miss Cronan said she thinks the young people respond better to the elderly than they do to many middle-aged persons, who may represent the authority of parents or teachers.

The Brookline project attracts outside visitors.

"Schools of nursing send students who are studying geriatrics," she wrote. "Students in public health or nutrition often visit, and people from other communities come to see how it works."

A representative from the Brookline Multiservice Senior Center is there daily to chat informally with the men and women. She refers those with medical problems to the health department or sends a visiting nurse to their homes. She has helped some find new living quarters and she arranges psychiatric and social help for those who need it.

Many older persons' eating habits are notoriously poor, but Miss Cronan said the program quickly demonstrated that some of the elderly are eager to learn about good nutrition.

She added that older people generally tend to eat too much bread, cereals and sweets, and too little meat, fish, poultry, fruit and vegetables. One woman told Miss Cronan that her lunch, before the school program was launched, had consisted of an English muffin and coffee at a fast food service restaurant. The cost was 40 cents—only 10 cents less than she now pays for a full hot meal.

The school program is continued during the summer session, but five meals a week during the school year isn't adequate, in Miss Cronan's view, and she hopes the Older Americans Act of Congress soon will make possible delivery of meals to the household and those on special diets. She'd also like to see it expand to include breakfast and/or supper.

"Schools should be open to serve the community—not just for children—for also adults at all hours," she wrote. "We have an obligation to care for those who need our service, to provide adequate nutrition in attractive surroundings, seasoned to give pleasure to the palate and warmth and joy to the heart."

MRS. MICHAEL RAY BURKS

Miss Messer is bride of Mr. Burks

West Texarkana Baptist Church was the setting for the candlelight ceremony uniting in marriage Paula Dean Messer and Michael Ray Burks Friday, August 18, at 7:30 p.m. with Rev. Larry Rose officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Messer of Texarkana and the granddaughter of Mrs. A. W. Pickard of Hope.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Burks of Texarkana.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of angel mist and alencon lace. The bodice featured a wedding ring neckline and bishop sleeves with appliques of the lace. The skirt swept to form the chapel train, edged in matching lace. Her veil of silk illusion was held in place with a bandeau of lace. She carried a nose-gay of feathery carnations, centered with a white purple throated orchid.

Nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Jerry Davis, who accompanied the soloist, Kenneth McQuire, as he sang "The Wedding Prayer," "We've Only Just Begun," and "Whither Thou Goest."

Mrs. Kay Cardin, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. Nancy Messer, also sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Dixie Hill, Belinda Morse, and Patti Burks, sister of the groom.

Candlelighter was Debbie Goins of Warren.

Joe Reed served as best man.

Groomsmen were Scottie Taylor of Hooks, Tex., David Lynch of Atlanta, Tex., Bobby Buck of Arkadelphia, and Mike Hughes of Texarkana.

Seating guests were Don Rader and Bruce Raney both of Texarkana.

A reception was held following the ceremony in the fellowship hall of the church.

After a brief trip, the couple will make their home in Arkadelphia where the groom is a junior at Ouachita Baptist University.

The only real disadvantage of the Stayman two-club convention is that an alert opponent may double the artificial two-club bid for lead directing purposes.

Not that we approve of East's double of two clubs with only four clubs to the king-jack. Should South have elected to pass and North to redouble, North would have made at least two odd and probably managed to collect an overtrick but South did bid two spades and was promptly put in three no-trump by North.

Three no-trump did not fare very well. South finessed dummy's 10 of clubs at trick one. Back came a spade with West's king dropping dummy's singleton queen. Another club finesse saw dummy's queen dropping to East's king. Back came a spade. South's 10-spot finesse was covered by West's jack and a third club was led.

Dummy's ace had to be played.

South went after diamonds by the normal play of leading to his ace and finessing the jack. That lost to the queen and East cashed his last club for two tricks down.

If South had stopped to think at trick one he would have brought home his contract in spite of losing the diamond finesse. He should have gone right up with dummy's ace of clubs and gone after diamonds at trick two.

East would take his queen and lead back a spade but South would clatter with his ace and cash out his red suit winners. Four diamonds plus three hearts plus two black aces would come to the magic number of nine.

OLD RECORDS

PARIS, Tex. (AP) — Paris has become a center of Spanish culture as Spanish deed records in the basement of the old Red River County Court house have been repaired and restored and soon may be on display at the Clarksville Public Library.

The records, written in Spanish, date back to 1835 and represent the first deed records of Red River County when it was a Spanish territory, and are among the oldest existing records of their type in Texas.

The Red River County Historical Record Preservation Fund has been formed and the Jaycees have donated time and money to have the Spanish records repaired.

Winfrey casts a giant shadow at Ark. State

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Stanley Winfrey, a member of Robert Lee Steward's supporting cast in high school, may cast a giant shadow himself at Arkansas State University.

"He's farther along at this age than (Calvin) Harrell," says ASU Coach Bill Davidson. "He's already 220 with better speed and the same blocking ability." Harrell, you remember, led the Southland Conference in rushing three years in a row and is now with Edmonton of the Canadian Football League.

Most college coaches who saw Forrest City play when Winfrey was a senior had eyes only for Steward and quarterback Dudley Parker.

Bobby's team laughs at Soviet charges

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) — Bobby Fischer's team responded with laughter and derision Tuesday night to Soviet charges of American electronic and chemical warfare at the world chess championship match. But referee Lothar Schmid said he would treat them seriously, just as he did Fischer's beefs.

The 17th game in the 24-game series adjourned for the night with champion Boris Spassky in a favorable position after daringly aggressive play. With Fischer leading 9½-6½, the champion abandoned the caution that has characterized much of his play.

The Soviet's delegation circulated a statement during the game asserting it had received letters saying that "some electronic devices and chemical substance which can be in the playing hall are being used to influence Mr. B. Spassky."

The statement from grandmaster Efim Geller, Spassky's second, said the letters mentioned in particular Fischer's chair and the special lighting installed at the American challenger's demand.

Geller cited Fischer's refusal to have the games filmed and suggested he didn't want the camera checking on him. "The same could be supposed," he continued from Fischer's repeated demands to transfer the game to a private room and to clear the first seven rows of spectators.

'Superman' Briles pitches one-hitter against Giants

By KEN RAPPOPORT

Associated Press Sports Writer Nelson Briles of the Pittsburgh Pirates has done some acting during the off-season, but never played the role of Superman.

He looked every bit the part Tuesday night, though, when pitching against the San Francisco Giants.

"It's really a funny feeling to be happy and disappointed at the same time," said Briles after losing a perfect-game bid in the seventh inning and winding up with a one-hitter to beat the Giants 1-0.

That one hit—a line drive by Ken Henderson off first baseman Willie Stargell's glove—turned out to be the only base-runner off Briles, an actor and night club performer when he isn't playing baseball.

"There's nothing wrong with beating Juan Marichal 1-0," said Briles. "But I'm disappointed because I came so close and had it go down."

Pittsburgh stayed 11½ games in front of New York in the National League East race. The Mets also won Tuesday night, beating the Houston Astros 4-2 for the second straight time.

Elsewhere, the Cincinnati Reds moved to an 8½-game advantage in the West over Houston by stopping the Montreal Expos 5-3; the Atlanta Braves trimmed the Philadelphia Phillies 11-7; the Chicago Cubs defeated the San Diego Padres 4-3 and the Los Angeles Dodgers nipped the St. Louis Cardinals 1-0.

American League results: California 2, Baltimore 0; Cleveland 3, Minnesota 2; Texas 2, Milwaukee 1; Boston 10, Kansas City 7; Oakland 6, Detroit 3 and Chicago 5, New York 4.

Briles, winning his 12th game in 17 decisions this year, retired the first 20 Giants before Henderson ripped one off Stargell's glove. It extended Henderson's hitting streak to 18 games.

"It was hit real well, but in my own mind I should have caught it," said Stargell, who doubled in the game's only run in the first. "There was just no time to stick the glove up. It was one of those things. I didn't talk to Briles about it—what could I say?"

Second baseman Dave Cash and shortstop Jackie Hernandez earlier made some great plays to steal potential San Francisco hits. Then Rennie Stennett made a leaping catch in left field off Bobby Bonds' bat for the final out.

Jim Beauchamp came through with his second game-winning hit in as many nights for New York.

"I can't expect things to go on like this—but at least I'm contributing for a change," said Beauchamp, who drove in all four Met runs Tuesday night, including two with a single in the eighth inning that decided it.

MUNICH (AP) — Lord Killanin of Ireland today was elected president of the International Olympic Committee, succeeding Avery Brundage.

Killanin, 58, was chosen in a straight contest with Count Jean de Beaumont of France. Brundage, announcing the result of the vote, said the voting figures will never be disclosed.

Killanin told newsmen: "President Avery Brundage remains in office until the end of the Olympic Games. Please don't expect the president-elect to make any policy statements."

Indians nip Minnesota

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It is a simple mathematical fact of baseball life that if all the teams ahead of you in the standings lose and you win, you'll gain ground.

And that explains how the unlikely American League East pennant race has another applicant today with the Cleveland Indians now just 6½ games behind in the whackiest chase since the Keystone Kops were in business.

The Indians find themselves in the picture after nipping Minnesota 3-2 Tuesday night. The top of the division remained unchanged with Detroit losing to Oakland 6-3, Baltimore bowing to California 2-0 and New York losing to Chicago 5-4.

Fourth place Boston tried valiantly to snatch defeat from the jaws of victory but didn't quite make it, beating Kansas City 10-7. In the other AL game, Texas trimmed Milwaukee 2-1, keeping the Brewers a mere 17 games behind.

In the National League, Atlanta ripped Philadelphia 11-7, Cincinnati topped Montreal 5-3, New York topped Houston 4-2, Los Angeles blanked St. Louis 1-0, Pittsburgh shut out San Francisco 1-0 and Chicago trimmed San Diego 4-3.

Detroit began the month of August atop the AL East and the Tigers are still there despite a woeful 8-15 log over the last three weeks. The slump has, of course, cost the leaders. Surging Baltimore, 10-13 this month, has chopped two games off the lead to move within one-half game of the lead.

The status remained quo with Oakland using homers by Angel Mangual, Blue Moon Odom and Joe Rudi to defeat Detroit and Mickey Lolich Tuesday night while Nolan Ryan's four-hitter pushed California past Baltimore.

Brown starts second season with Raiders

By ERIC PREWITT

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland Raiders' running backs are standing in line to second Bob Brown, the big offensive tackle whose blocking makes their lives happier.

"I've played on some great offensive lines, but this is by far the best," says Brown, the 6-foot-4, 280-pound veteran starting his second season with the Raiders.

"We've got a great team leader in Jim Otto and a great athlete and leader in Gene Upshaw," Brown continues. "We've got the makings of a really great year."

"Winfrey was strictly a blocking back for Steward," Davidson said. "He carried the ball about 12 times the whole year."

The ASU coaches looked at Winfrey, but finally decided not to offer him a scholarship.

"So, he went to Illinois State and, as a freshman led their ballclub in rushing," Davidson said.

Davidson said Winfrey wanted to be nearer his home and visited the ASU campus during the Christmas break, asking for a chance. The following month he enrolled at Jonesboro.

One observer close to the ASU program said Winfrey broke more times in spring practice for gains of 30, 40 or 50 yards than Harrell did in three springs at Jonesboro.

Winfrey is one of several new names the Indians are counting on in what has been termed a rebuilding year.

"We should be far better deeper in the season than we are at the beginning," Davidson said. Davidson was asked if as many as 10 freshmen might earn letters this year.

"Heck, we'll probably letter 20 freshmen," Davidson said. He admitted, however, that this appeared to be the most talented group of freshmen since he has been at ASU.

Along with youth comes enthusiasm.

ASU had the same type situation in 1968. "We went up to Western Michigan and they kicked the heck out of us," Davidson said. "But then we got together and went to Drake and beat their brains out."

The 1968 group peaked in 1970 with a national championship and then slipped to 4-4-1 last year.

The Indians open this year against SLC for McNeese State, No. 2 in the country last year with 32 lettermen returning.

Davidson is undecided at quarterback, but the choice is a pleasant one—James Flynn or Steve Burks.

Johnson is sidelined with shoulder injury

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A separation of the collarbone has knocked New York Giants' No. 1 quarterback Randy Johnson out of action, although the injury is not as serious as the one which recently sidelined Dallas passer Roger Staubach.

Johnson, who took over the starting role when the Giants traded Fran Tarkenton to Minnesota following the 1971 National Football League season, suffered the separation just below the shoulder of his throwing arm, the team said Tuesday, and will miss at least three weeks of action.

Staubach may miss the entire season due to his shoulder separation.

The injury occurred on the final play of the Giants' game last Sunday against the New York Jets when Johnson slipped and John Little of the Jets fell on him. The Giants' backup quarterbacks are Ed Baker and Norm Snead.

Injuries were also reported on Tuesday by the Cleveland Browns, Philadelphia Eagles and Los Angeles Rams.

Rookie defensive end Lester Sims, the Browns' second-round draft choice from Alabama State who had been counted on heavily, has apparently been lost for the season, the team said.

He suffered torn cartilage in his right knee Sunday against Detroit and was to undergo surgery today.

The Eagles said middle linebacker Steve Zabel, who gained a starting berth when Tim Rosovich was traded to San Diego, also suffered torn cartilage in his right knee in practice Tuesday but Philadelphia said he is expected to be back in time for the team's regular-season opener Sept. 17.

Kermit Alexander, cornerback for the Rams, will be out four to six weeks with a broken elbow suffered in the exhibition game against Oakland.

Among Tuesday's deals, the Green Bay Packers traded second-year defensive end Donnell Smith to the St. Louis Cardinals for an undisclosed draft choice and the Rams acquired cornerback Al Clark from the Detroit Lions, also for a draft pick.

QUARTERBACK—Randy Johnson, who couldn't do it in Atlanta, and Norm Snead, who couldn't do it in Washington, Philly, Minnesota, are supposed to do it in New York? That's a question mark, for sure. Rating—C.

RUNNING BACKS—Giants' tailspin in '71 coincided directly with injuries to Ron Johnson, their first 1,000-yard back ever. He's got to come back strong for any kind of ground threat. Unknown Charlie Evans is his running mate. An interesting big rookie named Eddie Richardson is a possibility. Rating—B.

WIDE RECEIVERS—Contract unhappiness of Bob Grim (from Minnesota in Tarkenton deal) left early training camp jobs still in hands of Rich Houston, Don Herrman. They're just adequate. Top rookie Eldridge Small could work into job quickly. Rating—B-.

TIGHT END—He's deceptive, both in size and speed, but Bob Tucker's just beginning to be appreciated. Led NFC in receiving. Great hands. Rating—B+.

LINE—What they consider improvement is getting rereads like Joe Toffani, Dick Enderle to challenge for jobs. They're still got the old guys like Greg Larson and Willie Young for continuity. But it's a unit that desperately needs young, physical specimens. Rating—C.

DEFENSE

LINE—Other teams kill Giants by running straight at 'em, and there's little sign it'll change. Main addition was Jack Gregory from Cleveland, sort of a rover in assistant coach Jim Garrett's new defensive concepts. Kids like Henry Reed, Dave Tipton, Dave Koller are quick but light. Rating—C.

LINEBACKERS—Most hopeful department on club. Put Ron Hornsby in middle and Jim Fles at corner last year, and they're NFL caliber who'll thrive with experience. John Douglas or Pat Hughes will fill out the threesome. They all have size and range. Rating—B.

SECONDARY—No apologies needed for Willie Williams at one corner and Spider Lockhart at safety, but the other two positions will be juggled among Pete Aghos, Joe Green and Freddie Summers, with Scott Eaton a holdover aspirant. Rating—B-.

KICKING—Pete Gogolak hit an abysmal slump last year. He's got to perk up as field goal booter. Tom Blanchard did well enough as punter. Rating—B.

SPECIAL TEAMS—Rocky Thompson was exciting as kickoff returner but there was virtually no threat on punt runbacks. Rating—B-.

PREDICTION

Fifth in Division. And it'll be slightly miraculous if they better last year's 4-10 mark.

the athletes of white-controlled Rhodesia in the face of a walk-out threat of blacks from Olympic Village.

It was a bruising defeat for 84-year-old IOC President Avery Brundage, in perhaps his final battle before stepping down as czar of the Olympics for 20 years.

"It is political blackmail," the Chicago millionaire said earlier regarding the withdrawal threat initiated by nations of black Africa with heavy ideological differences with the Rhodesians.

It was somewhat of a technical knockout of the Rhodesians as the IOC voted 36-31 to snatch back its Munich invitation on grounds that the athletes from the small country had no British passports as specified in a 1971 agreement.

Artwell Mandaza, a black Rhodesian, was a man who accepted the dismissal with emotions. His speed is 10 flat at 100 meters, which could perhaps have won an Olympic gold medal.

It's a great disappointment, he said, "because I know my speed would have won an Olympic medal. On the other hand, it is quite fair for the black African nations who know what they are fighting for."

As Rhodesia prepared to pull out, some athletes with tears in their eyes, the remaining 122 countries continued honing sports skills for the quadrennial which opens Saturday amid the usual pomp and splendor.

White-controlled Rhodesia, a former British colony which declared its independence in 1965, was admitted to the Games by the IOC a year ago with the stipulation that its athletes compete as British subjects and use the British hymn and flag.

At the time, the African bloc went along with the agreement, apparently feeling that Rhodesia would refuse to field a team under such conditions.

When the Rhodesians showed up in Munich, wearing identification cards labeled "South Rhodesia, British subject" and flying British colors, the Africans were caught off guard.

COURSE GRADUATES—Seventeen men completed the Emergency Medical Technician (Ambulance) Course at Red River Vocational Technical School, Aug. 15 and were presented certificates by J. W. Rowe, director. Pictured above are Edgar O. Bennett, Carl Gammon and Frank McCowen of Nashville; Lee Breithaupt Jr., and Charles E. Hutcheson, Texarkana; William J. Burks Jr., Emyle L. Dozier, Roger C. Moore and William T. Ross, Malvern; Perry Campbell, Mike Gibson, Larry Moses and James Vess, Perrytown; James Luck, Washington; Dale Foster, Mineral Springs; and Johnny House and Tommy J. McKee of Hope. The 72-hour course completed by this group was designed to train ambulance drivers to better perform their duties. The training included 10 hours of clinical work in the following hospitals: University, Little Rock; Wadley and St. Michaels, Texarkana; Howard County Memorial Hospital, Nashville; and Hempstead County Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Mary Turner, R. N., was instructor for the course, and Dr. Lowell Harris and Ed Edney of the State Health Department in Little Rock served as coordinators. The program was conducted under the auspices of the State Health Department, State Department of Education, and the EMT National Registry in Columbus, Ohio.

U.S. military buildup in Hawaii gets in high gear

HONOLULU (AP) — Military activity in Hawaii is moving into high gear again as the Vietnam war winds down. Army and Marine combat units are being reformed and beefed up as the 50th state again becomes the base of primary reserve fighting forces in the Pacific.

Hawaii's military population has reached almost 119,000, the highest since January 1965, when the total was about 136,000 and just before the 25th Infantry Division and the 1st Marine Brigade left for Vietnam. A further increase is certain within the next year when combat units are brought to near full strength.

The Army recently added a second brigade to the 25th Division at Schofield Barracks, which will add 4,000 men to the present 6,000-man force by mid-1973. The Marine Corps plans to add some 1,000 troops to the First Brigade at the Kaneohe Marine Corps Air Station by the middle of next year.

The influx of troops will bring related problems, including the need for housing. The Army said it will need 6,000 units at Schofield Barracks by mid-1973, but will have only 3,600. The Marine Corps says it will be in "fairly good shape" in family housing at Kaneohe by next year.

GOP official denies published reports

WASHINGTON (AP) — A high GOP official says published reports that the Committee for the Re-election of the President violated campaign finance laws in handling nearly $500,000 are not true.

Paul E. Barrick, the treasurer of the finance committee of President Nixon's re-election committee, Tuesday made the statement about the report published in The Washington Post that the Government Accounting Office had found violations in the handling of the funds.

The Post story said "several reliable sources" reported irregularities found by the GAO included: $200,000 in unreported contributions; another $200,000 in unreported expenditures; a $100,000 campaign security fund; some errors in reporting a $50,000 itemization; and an undisclosed amount—probably small, the Post said—of loose cash at the committee.

Barrick said that since April 7, the effective date of the Federal Election Campaign Act of 1971, the finance committee "has sought diligently to comply with each requirement imposed by the act."

The committee "has never been advised that any irregularities have been alleged by government officials with responsibility in that area," Barrick added.

He also said the committee's records have been made available to auditors of the GAO and that the committee would answer all questions "to the extent possible."

The newspaper said the audit turned up evidence of several special accounts or accumulations of cash described as "slush funds," which the Post said did not appear to be included in the committee's regular bookkeeping.

Group attempting to halt concert

SHERIDAN, Ark. (AP) — Grant County residents are joining together in an attempt to prevent a giant rock band festival from being held near here next month.

The event, being billed as the state's "first giant rock festival" and an event promoters expect will gross perhaps $1 million is planned for Sept. 1-2 at the Rebel Springs Entertainment Center on U.S. 270.

Bill Stratton, the festival promoter, said the event has been on the drawing board for more than a year. He said more than $75,000 had been spent on promotions with advertisement appearing on radio stations "all over the world."

Opposition to the event is widespread with church leaders, government officials and individuals taking an active role in trying to stop the festival.

Critics say that the "good clean entertainment" at Stratton's place will cease to exist once the estimated 50,000 to 100,000 youths and problems usually associated with such events move in on the peaceful city of 2,500 for a "wild weekend."

Petitions to prevent the festival were circulated Sunday in several Sheridan churches. Ministers, merchants and others have bought newspaper space to voice their displeasure, and there is talk of possible court action, sources said.

Buenos Aires (AP) — An uproar of criticism from demonstrating students and the powerful Peronist party boiled up against Argentina's military government today over the killing of 15 guerrilla prisoners accused of staging their second jailbreak in a week.

The supreme council of the Peronistas, Argentina's largest political party, branded the killings Tuesday "a new violation of human rights" and said it would send its own investigators to the scene at the Trelew marine base prison, 700 miles southwest of Buenos Aires.

Other politicians and lawyers for the slain guerrillas referred to the killings as executions and as a massacre.

The Peronist party also said it was sending doctors to care for four wounded survivors and lawyers "to assist other persons in the area deprived of their liberty."

The uproar from the Peronistas could jeopardize plans for national elections next March to return Argentina to civilian rule. President Alejandro Lanusse, who is also commander of the army, has called the elections but negotiations with the Peronistas and other parties are stalled over their charges that the military plans to "condition" the voting.

The guards at the marine base on the South Atlantic coast killed 11 men and four women and wounded three men and one woman. The 19 were in the stockade after surrendering to authorities following a successful jailbreak and hijacking Aug. 15. They broke out of the jail at Rawson, seized the nearby Trelew airport and commandeered an airliner on which six of their chieftains rode to neighboring Chile.

The military command in Trelew said the prisoners tried to escape before dawn Tuesday after informing the guard captain that one of them was ill and needed attention.

The guerrillas' lawyers told a news conference the prisoners could not have been trying to escape because they were under heavy guard in separate cells.

People in the News

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A summons by the Navy prohibited Lt. (J.G.) David Eisenhower from being on hand when his father-in-law, President Nixon, was renominated at the Republican National Convention.

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Rock musicians Grace Slick and Paul Kantner of the Jefferson Airplane have been ordered to trial on charges of assaulting a policeman.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Rep. Barry Goldwater Jr. has been accused of misusing his congressional franking privileges. A Goldwater spokesman denies it.

Goldwater's Democratic opponent in the November election, Mark Novak, 37, said Tuesday that Goldwater improperly mailed out 150,000 voter questionnaire letters at taxpayers expense to voters in the 27th District, using envelopes marked "public document, official business."

Questions and Answers

Social Security Administration
P.O. Box 1319
Texarkana, Texas

If you have any questions regarding social security, send them to the Social Security Office, Box 1319, Texarkana, Texas, Attention: Glenda Bozeman

Q. I am 73 years old and receive social security benefits. I plan to return to work. How much am I allowed to earn and still receive my social security checks?

A. Your earnings have no effect on your social security benefits once you are age 72.

Q. I read in the paper that the Medicare deductible went up the first of the year. What are the new amounts?

A. The hospital deductible was increased from $60 to $68 for benefit periods beginning in 1972. The coinsurance amount for the 1st through 90th day in the hospital was increased from $15 a day to $17 a day. The lifetime reserve coinsurance was increased from $30 to $34 per day, and the Extended Care Facility coinsurance was increased from $7.50 to $8.50 per day.

Q. I am going to retire at age 62. When should I file for my social security?

A. You should file three months before the month you become 62. This will give time to process your claim and get your check started by the month you retire.

Q. My mother had surgery, but is ready to leave the hospital. She insists on coming home. Will Medicare pay for a private nurse or for any nursing service? Her incision needs to be dressed daily.

A. Medicare will not pay for full-time nursing care at home, but certain part-time services of home health aides, medical supplies and appliances, physical therapy, etc., may be available from an approved home health agency. However, her doctor must make the referral and file a plan of home treatment within 14 days after the patient leaves the hospital (after at least a 3-day stay) or a participating extended care facility.

Q. I am a domestic worker and am employed by a number of different people. Should this work count for social security benefits?

A. If you are paid $50 or more by any one employer in a calendar quarter it does count for social security benefits. If you believe your wages are not being properly reported, ask your Social Security Office for help.

Smith is Kiwanis speaker

George S. Smith, managing editor of the Hope Star, was the guest speaker Tuesday at the regular meeting of the Hope Kiwanis Club.

Smith presented a program concerning his participation as a "one-day wonder" in Cummins Prison Farm last year. Smith, with the cooperation of the prison personnel, worked at the prison for a day in an attempt to uncover the "real side" of prison life for short-term inmates.

Bob Willis was recognized as a new club member.

A visiting Kiwanian from Conway, George Covington, was present, and Richard Hunt of Dallas also attended the meeting.

Pension fund for railroads needs reform

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressional commission predicts the federally-administered pension fund for railroad workers will go bankrupt by 1988 unless there are quick financial reforms.

The dispute already brewing over the question of who should bail the fund out of trouble may carry the seeds of serious labor unrest in the railroad industry within the next year or two.

Labor spokesmen have suggested that railroad management take over the main burden of financing the pension fund, now supported by almost equal contributions from management and employees.

Warning of the fund's jeopardy is the Commission on Railroad Retirement, established two years ago to examine the railroad pension system and the federal Railroad Retirement Board which administers it.

The report has not yet been published but the key chapter of conclusions and recommendations has been completed and was obtained by the Associated Press from a commission source.

The railroad pension system is the only federally administered pension plan for workers in private industry. The unique arrangement was created by Congress in 1935 to protect railroad pensions during the Great Depression.

The commission report said railroad employment has declined steeply over the past 25 years, while the number of pensioners is only now reaching its expected peak.

In addition, the report said, retirement benefits have been increased but employer and worker contributions have not kept pace.

"Unless corrective action is taken promptly there will be large cash flow deficits, and the system will go broke in about 16 years," the report states.

It said railroad workers should be covered by regular Social Security, with supplemental benefits "floated on top."

The commission rejected suggestions that the federal government subsidize the fund. The commission opposed further benefit increases, currently under consideration in Congress, and said worker and employee contributions must be increased to maintain the fund's solvency at the current benefit level.

But it ducked the question of who should pay how much of future contributions.

The report recommended a clear division between railroad pension benefits paid in lieu of regular Social Security and those paid under a supplemental pension program.

Free lunch program to be continued in the Hope schools

James H. Jones, superintendent of schools, announced that the New Free Lunch Policy is applicable to all of the schools in Hope School District 1-A. Jones stated that the charge for students who can pay is 35 cents in the elementary schools and 40 cents in the secondary schools. However, if any family finds it difficult, for any reason, to pay the school price for its children, the school will provide these lunches free-of-charge at any school in the district. Families who feel that their children may qualify for a free lunch are requested to apply. Inasmuch as most families have already made application for free lunches for their children for the current school year, additional applications are available in the office of the principal at each school, or at the District Administrative Offices. Completed applications should be forwarded to the District Administrative Office, Box 688, and marked for the attention of the school social worker. Applications will receive prompt attention and parents will be notified within five days as to the decision made. All information furnished on application forms will be held strictly confidential.

Decisions for approval will be based on the following scale.

'Port' property is purchased

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — Nine acres of property at the Port of Pine Bluff has been sold to the Koppel Bulk Terminal Co., according to Wallace A. Gieringer, president of the Jefferson County Industrial Foundation, Inc.

LOWERING OF ADULT STATUS IS PLANNED

CONWAY, Ark. (AP) — State Sen. Guy Jones of Conway said Tuesday he planned to introduce legislation when the General Assembly convenes next year to lower the age of adult status from 21 to 18.

Jones said that since a person can vote in the state and federal elections at age 18, he should be able to act legally in other areas such as entering contracts and selling real property without having his parents sign consent papers.

She' course taught; professor (he) wants like course for 'he-s'

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — A Women's Studies program is funded at the University of New Mexico, and a male professor says that what's good for the goose is good for the gander.

Dr. Richard F. Tomasson, chairman of the Sociology Department, who says he's changed at least 50 per cent of his three kids' diapers, is calling for equal time and equal money for the men.

He said the idea of a Women's Studies is "absolutely silly," but if the women are going to have it, the men should too.

He submitted his proposed curriculum for Men's Studies, complete with courses covering the "Mythology of Male Superiority" and "The Legal Status of American Men," to the university curriculum committee. But he said he hasn't received an official response.

He said his latest greeting is,

"Whose husband are you?"

Tomasson maintains the Women's Lib movement has merit in advocating equal pay and equal treatment in careers. And he says "We should get rid of sexual linkage for occupations."

He said he performs house duties such as dish washing, cooking and helping with the children, boys, "liberated of course," ages 9, 10, and 13.

He doesn't iron, but then, "my wife never irons either."

Tomasson said he unquestionably would have hired a male secretary had one applied for the job.

There might be some impending discrimination against men "with all this business of hiring women," he said.

On the subject of "Ms.," Tomasson said it should be ditched in preference for just plain "M."

GOP euphoria only matched twice in recent history

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The euphoria surrounding the 1972 Republican National Convention has probably been matched only twice in recent GOP history.

In 1956, it proved justified — as Dwight D. Eisenhower was re-elected in a landslide. But in 1948 it was a delusion and Harry S. Truman scored one of the greatest upsets in American political history, defeating Thomas E. Dewey.

The party is united now with the only visible rift here related to who takes over after Richard M. Nixon. A variety of polls show the Nixon-Spiro T. Agnew ticket with a massive — some say unbeatable — lead over the Democratic combination of Sen. George McGovern and Sargent Shriver.

Though Republican leaders keep saying they believe the margin will narrow before November, others aren't sure. They recall that, in 1964, Republican nominee Barry Goldwater fell 30 points behind Lyndon B. Johnson in midsummer and stayed there.

Just six weeks ago, Democrats left this city's Convention Hall with considerable hope they could mend their divisions and unite behind the McGovern candidacy. McGovern was confident he could hold the party regulars.

Since then, a series of mishaps has put a cloud over McGovern's prospects.

In an unprecedented development, Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton of Missouri was dropped as McGovern's running mate after he failed to disclose his medical history to McGovern.

A series of subsequent controversies have dogged McGovern and obscured his efforts at party unity and campaign organization:

Nomination scene at convention

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A fireworks-bright explosion of sound and color rocked convention hall Tuesday night after the roll call had confirmed Richard Nixon's nomination.

Red, white and blue balloons drooped from eleven baskets overhead and burst like firecrackers through the hall.

Convention officials had conceded that 10 minutes of "spontaneous demonstration" were on the program. It lasted 14 minutes.

As the crowd sang, and a marching band played "When the Saints Go Marching In," Nixon's wife, two daughters and son-in-law Edward Cox took in the wild scene with bright smiles.

David Eisenhower, the other son-in-law, was unable to attend. He had to return Tuesday to his naval base at Mayport, Fla.

—The denial and subsequent admission of Pierre Salinger's inquiry into North Vietnamese peace intentions;

—The likening of President Nixon to Hitler in attacks on the bugging and attempted break-in of Democratic headquarters at the Watergate complex in Washington; —And the comment that his election would prompt prompt South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu to flee and turn over that country to a Communist-led coalition.

Even before the Democratic convention, he stirred controversy by saying he would go to Hanoi and beg, if necessary, to free captured U.S. prisoners.

Now, many polls show Nixon with top-heavy leads in the major industrial states which are crucial to Democratic success. Other surveys show him with a remarkable row of advantages over McGovern in categories designed to measure the ways in which Americans regard the two rivals.

Though confident, many Republicans here are running scared. They are following the President's advice to guard against the kind of letdown that helped turn almost certain victory into the stunning Republican defeat of 1948.

Yet, for the Republicans and Richard Nixon, this convention is a time to savor. The man who has been involved in controversy from his arrival on the national political scene a quarter-century ago now stands supreme in his party and, if the polls are right, in the nation.

There are obstacles ahead. Far more Americans still consider themselves Democrats than regard themselves as Republicans, and the polls show people consider the Democratic party better equipped in many areas to deal with national problems.

The connection of Republican officials with the bugging and attempted break-in of the Democratic party's headquarters is before a grand jury, posing political risks for the GOP later this fall.

There is also the warning of the example set by both parties in the past few years. Eight years after their smashing 1964 electoral victory, Democrats face a second straight presidential setback, severe strains on party unity and perhaps the most serious threat to their 18-year grip on congressional control.

A decade earlier, Republicans failed to build on the Eisenhower electoral successes.

On Tuesday, August 15th, Mrs. Emma L. Phillips and family had as house guests, her niece, Mrs. Idell Piggee, her cousins, Mrs. Sophia Williams and Mrs. Annie Davis all of Gary, Indiana, Curtis Hearne of West Memphis, Mrs. Bernice Spencer and Mrs. Ida Bell Mitchell of Little Rock, Willie Smith of Paraloma; Weekend guests were, Mr. and Mrs. Reeder Hopkins, Mrs. Hettie Hopkins, and Miss Parker all of Chicago.

The Stewards, Trustees and Stewardesses of Beebe Memorial Christian Methodist Episcopal Church will meet at the church, Thursday, August 24, at 7:00 p.m.

Delegates of state vote 'no'

MIAMI Beach, Fla. (AP) — Neal Sox Johnson, an Arkansas delegate to the Republican National Convention, said here Tuesday that the Arkansas delegation voted against the rules issue.

All 18 votes were "no" votes, said Johnson, who also is executive director of the state party. "We felt that the bonus system was in order and was helpful," he said. "We did not feel that it was a deterrent to the big states by population and that there should be some special consideration given to those states even though they were small but that went out and tried to help elect Republicans."

"We felt that the bonus system was fair on it," he said.

FBI agents kill alleged bank robber in New York

NEW YORK (AP) — FBI agents shot and killed one alleged bank robber and captured his accomplice today at Kennedy airport as the pair prepared to board a private jet for a flight out of the country. Seven hostages they had held for more than 14 hours were unharmed.

The gunmen, one a self-admitted homosexual demanding the release of his male "wife" from a mental ward, had robbed a Brooklyn branch of the Chase Manhattan bank of $23,000 Tuesday afternoon and then held the employees hostage when they were surprised by police.

The dead man was tentatively identified as Salvatore Naturrelle, police said.

In a bizarre drama that stretched through the night, the gunmen negotiated with FBI agents and police on their demands for the plane and a car to take them to the airport. A two-engine Hansa jet was brought to the airport about 2:30 a.m.

At 3:40 a.m. a limousine pulled up in front of the one-story bank and the homosexual, John Wojtowicz, came out of the building with a rifle slung over his shoulder to search the car.

Wojtowicz, who had earlier demanded the release of his male "wife" from a hospital psychiatric ward, then surveyed the street, apparently looking for the hidden police sharpshooter.

Satisfied, he got into the car with his accomplice, the hostages and an FBI agent for the driver. They drove off for the airport, arriving there at 4:45 a.m.

John F. Malone, special agent in charge of the FBI's New York office, told a news conference that his assistant, Richard Baker, walked up to the limousine as it reached the plane and talked to the men inside.

While he was talking, the agent-driver, who was not identified, pulled his gun and fired one shot, fatally wounding one man in the chest. The shooting took place at a remote runway near Jamaica Bay at the southern end of the huge jetport.

Malone said the agents recovered from the limousine the $29,000 taken from the bank and three guns, a .38-caliber snub nosed pistol, a shotgun and a 30-06 rifle.

Malone said the men were armed with a rifle and a machine gun.
